A lot of those notions, though, are no more evidence-based than, say, bleeding a feverish patient to supposedly reduce the fever, as physicians used to do centuries ago. If Christianity is the only true religion, then why do practitioners of all other religions feel fulfilled in their faith and achieve the same desired results as Christians? These "diseases" and "sufferings" are all just different characters for us. Others appear to have been influenced by the Jewish tradition of avoiding the use of the name, perhaps out of fear of desecrating it. All they had to do was to dig up the grave and to present the corpse.

Or we can choose to accept Jesus' payment for our sins. First of all, you could repent thereafter and be forgiven. You stole this article, and as the one and only God, I demand that you either give credit to the original author, RePuckett, or I shall smite yee!
