You could bring these with you as a packed lunch. He had lived in the US for 10 years and reassured them it's perfectly normal there, but they still thought I was weird. You could also push a lot of the breakfast items fruit, yogurt, etc into the lunch category.

Unless you get a strange deal, the monks will usually cook you at least one meal. Stay tuned for the next two installments of my vegan Japan trip. Choose from soba buckwheat or udon wheat and a range of fillings. Although we despaired at times of finding a veggie-friendly meal, we also had some of the most unusual and delicious meals we have ever eaten.

The most useful thing I've done is making a point to learn the kanji for all of them. I do very much appreciate that concern but I've seen a lot of people express a fear they'll be unable to eat at all.
