When you make a sacrifice " Not wanting to do it" it opens a door for you to receive. That's the point, You can not just move in time, despite what Hollywood shows us. Two particles with the same information are identical, so teleporting the information is essentially the same as teleporting the particle .

You discover the earth is about to hit an alien space vessel that happened to be before you. The faster the spaceship is traveling, the farther behind the Mars clock will appear hours, days, even YEARS if you're going fast. This concept was overthrown by Einstein, who showed that time is more like a river that meanders across the universe, speeding up and slowing down as it snakes across stars and galaxies.

Matthew Visser of Victoria University in Wellington, New Zealand, estimates how many people have moved in space since. But weren't the clocks synchronized from the perspective of Earth and Mars?
